MEMORANDUM FOR: Office of Legislative Counsel

CRD/Intelligence Branch

SUBJECT:

Review of OLC Document "Legislative History of the Central Intelligence Agency" (25 July 1967)

After examination of the referenced document, it is my opinion that, if subjected to systematic review, it could be declassified. There is nothing in this material to compromise any sources or methods. The bulk of the material consists of congressional committee testimony from May through July of 1947. If the material was entirely based on CIA records, there would be no problem. I am not cognizant of the legal implication governing declassification of material originally classified in any congressional records which may have been included in the document.
